KOKOMO, Ind., Dec. 29.—The crowning result of Mrs. Woodworth's trance evangelistic work at this place was consummated yesterday in the dedication of the new Union Mission church. The congregation is made up partially of Mrs. Woodworth's converts and partially of members of other churches in the city. The building they have erected is a frame, 40x60, worth between $1,500 and $2,000. The Rev. Dr. Blanchard, president of the Wesleyan Methodist college, at Wheaton, Ill., preached the dedicatory sermon. The house seats 450 people, and was three times crowded to overflowing Sunday. The collection $366.50 was sufficient to more than pay off the remaining indebtedness. The church's pastor for the year is Rev. Hyles, formerly of Greensburg, a Wesleyan Methodist.

IN HIS HONOR.

The Hendricks Monument Association Organized.

OFFICE OF THE ALLEN CO. HENDRICKS MONUMENT ASSOCIATION, FORT WAYNE, IND.

To the People of Allen County:

The life and character of Thomas A Hendricks affords ample opportunity to every citizen of the republic to unite in the endeavor to do honor to his memory.

Common ground upon which men of all parties may stand is readily found in the purity of his walk and conversation, in the nobility and integrity of his character, and in the honest and devoted manner in which he filled every trust committed to his hands.

In the lives of too many of our great men there have been whole chapters which must be hidden from public view. Athwart the glory of their illustrious names fall dark and forbidden shadows. There were no such dark pages in the records of Mr. Hendricks' life. He stood among his compeers like Saul among the Israelites, head and shoulders above them all, conspicuous by virtue of the honesty and integrity of his public life and the stainless purity of his private character.

To a vast portion of our people he stood for years an able and trusted political leader. In the ranks of a numerous and honored profession, filled with noted men, he held an eminent and distinguished position. His influence in shaping the course of our commonwealth has been second to that of none of the great men of our state. Safe as a leader, wise as a counselor, true as a friend, as a man, honest, his memory is worthy of more than passing tribute from the people of the state which loved him so well and whose loving confidence he repaid with a well rounded measure of unselfish devotion.

It is in recognition of what is due to his memory that the people of Indiana propose to build a monument which shall show to future generations that in his own day Thomas A. Hendricks was loved and revered of men. To do less than this would be unworthy of the great state which knew him best and which best he served.

The work of raising funds for this purpose has already been begun and is being vigorously carried on throughout the state. We have been asked to assume the duty of conducting the work in this county. Great things are expected of "Old Allen." Let us not be found wanting. Let us give; each man according to his ability.

A canvassing committee has been appointed in each ward in the city and in each township outside in the county. It is hoped that every person will have the opportunity to contribute something to the cause which we herewith present.

The names of all contributors, whatever the amount, will be published in our city and county papers and forwarded to the Hendricks Monument association at Indianapolis, where they will be properly recorded and deposited in the public library. Let us in this matter do credit to our country and to ourselves, We trust that the various committees will begin their work at once and that the people will meet them in a cordial and generous spirit. These committees do not undertake this work from choice. It has been placed upon them and is "a labor of love" on their part. Let our people remember this and receive them in a kindly and corteous manner. The various committees which have been asked to do the work of canvassing their respective districts are given below:

THE HENDRICKS BUST.

Sculptor Park's First Work Satisfactorily Completed.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 29.—R. H. Parks, the sculptor, has completed in clay his bust of the late Vice President Hendricks, and during the past three or four days has allowed a number of persons to see it. This model is made for Mrs. Hendricks, and, if accepted, the bust will be made in bronze. The model has been critically viewed by Mrs. Hendricks, Maj. A. W. Hendricks, Oscar B. Hord and others, and has received their approval. It is indeed a striking likeness of Mr. Hendricks, the artist having happily achieved his best expression. The lines are somewhat softened and represent Mr. Hendricks rather as he was five or six years ago than during the last two years of his life, when suffering and anxiety had left their marks upon him.

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 29.—Last evening Senator Voorhees received a letter from the president approving the project of erecting a monument to the memory of the late vice-president and saying that his relations with Mr. Hendricks, both personal and official, were such that it would be a source of much satisfaction to him to see this good work promptly begun and at the proper time he hoped to be allowed to aid the undertaking. In reply to the president's communication Senator Voorhees wrote his thanks to the president in behalf of his personal friends and the general body of people of Indiana.

A meeting of Indianians now in this city will be held on Friday night, Jan. 8, to take steps toward collecting a fund for the Hendricks monument.

A Card From Hon. Charles McCulloch.

To the Editor of THE SENTINEL:

I sincerely believe there is a strong pressure being brought to bear upon the county commissioners to fund the county debt, which, I think, is entirely unwise and unnecessary at the present time. It will therefore be well for them to consider who these parties are that come to them with advice, and also what class of men are expecting to be directly benefitted thereby. My advice therefore to Messrs. Hartman, Gloyd and Brannan is to go slow and feel well the public pulse before they take a big step that they may always regret. The words "Retrenchment and Economy" will look better over their front door plates than "Funding" over the democratic parties' tombstone. I know there have been in the past few years extraordinary expenses for the county to meet in the way of iron bridge building and I also know there has been a system of drawing money from the treasury in the way of ditch commissioners' services and county expenses that the commissioners could not help, but can be largely reduced in the future, I also believe that a few contractors have grown rather too suddenly rich. All this can be largely abated in the future, if the commissioners will only say it shall be so. Admitting, therefore, that there are at present $250,000 of county orders afloat; Mr. Griebel tells me that the treasurer holds at present ninety-two thousand dollars of county fund money, which, if applied toward redeeming orders would leave only a little over one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of orders out. The orders now out are being easily carried by our own people who pay taxes, as is evidenced that none to any amount have sold below 98 cents, and a large sale the other day was made by the Smith bridge company at 98½. It is not true that they are hawked about the streets, for they find ready purchasers at these figures. Why pay interest on them to wealthy corporations and capitalists abroad when they are sought for at home?

Funding will not reduce the debt, only postpone the day of payment. The amount of orders now afloat serve the purpose of making the officials more economical, and I believe with a general practical reform executed in every department of the county government, $30,000 more of a reduction can be made each year than is being done at present. Do not let any one put himself in the way to obstruct reformation, from the judge on the bench to the humblest official, and I most seriously advise the commissioners, the several officials, the judges of the courts, and the township trustees altogether to consider the wisdom of a timely reform. If it is commenced now, five years will see us out of debt, and nobody injured, except the party who expects to obtain a handsome commission for negotiating the loan, a half dozen contractors and the foreign bondholder. Reformation is something that is generally put at a distance in order to be made to look lonely, and its greatest favorers generally love it better in the abstract than in the substance; but where there is a will there is a way. There is an urgent necessity that something of this kind should be done. Our political circumstances demand it, for we live in a democratic county. I for one want to keep it so, that it may be in the future what it has been in the past, the banner democratic county. Let us keep it free from any bonded embellishments, so we can point to it with pride, when our republican friends elsewhere look aghast at our majorities. Our city bonded debt, make up of railroad donations, is large enough. Let the county be kept free, as it has been in the past.

Cruel Torture Endured a Young Woman for Her Family.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

MADISON, IND., Dec. 29.—Mrs. Highland Lumm, a worthy widow and her two unmarried daughters, Sarah and Mary, reside in the west end and sew for a livelihood. On Christmas day they dined with a married sister, Mrs. Oscar Trigg.

That evening Mary, the younger, was too ill to return home, and Sarah remained over night with her. Her suffering was in her side, and became so severe that Sarah got some antidote, which she proposed applying. Mary said the place was raw and she preferred to make the application herself. Sarah insisted on helping her, when Mary finally agreed that she might, but first had all the family called. Removing her clothing, a horrible sight was presented. A dreadful cancer had almost destroyed her left breast, exposing her ribs to view.

The mother fainted and all the family were shocked with grief. Three physicians were summoned, who pronounced it a hopeless case. The poor girl says she has known and suffered from the cancer for two years, keeping it a secret from the rest of the folks because she knew it would only trouble them and they could not help her.

A LEVEL-HEADED NEWSDEALER.

Newsdealers are as a class popularly supposed to know a good thing when they see it, and are ever on the lookout for that which will interest and please the public. In a humble way Edison was once a newsdealer, having sold papers on railroads. Among newsdealers who have a keen eye to business and to everything that can be of benefit is Mr. G. W. Dove, of Vincennes, Ind., whose place of business is at No. 114 Second street. Mr. Dove was recently afflicted with rheumatism, but quickly cured himself by using Athlophoros. This is what he says about it:

"Athlophoros is a good medicine and it did for me all that I could ask. At the time when I began using it I was sadly afflicted with rheumatism. I was in a helpless state and suffered untold pain, not being able to get out of bed or to be moved without enduring the greatest agony. I had read some time before of the wonderful cures of people effected by Athlophoros, and at the time tried to buy it at the drug stores, but could not find any. As I was determined to try it I sent to the company for some."

"Did it act quickly upon you?"

"I felt the effects almost immediately. After I had taken a few doses the pain subsided. The medicine seemed to go directly where the pain was."

"Have you had any return of the pain?"

"I have not suffered any to speak of since. I used only three bottles and consider it the best medicine for rheumatism that I know of. I recommended it to a gentleman in St. Louis who had his mother use some and was very much pleased with the result. I have recommended it to different persons, and in every instance where it was used it gave entire satisfaction."

J. A. Wilson, the well-known photographer, 6 and 8 Main St., New Albany, tells an equally interesting story of how Athlophoros cured him of rheumatism:

"I only used one bottle," he says. "The rheumatism was in my arms and I had sharp, shooting pains. I was suffering and complaining a great deal, when a friend coming into my gallery one morning asked me what the trouble was. I said it was rheumatism. Said my friend: 'I was reading of a medicine that is for the cure of rheumatism and neuralgia. It struck me forcibly, as it did not claim to cure every complaint that flesh is heir to.' When I asked him what it was he said the name was Athlophoros. I bought a bottle on the strength of what he said. That was all I needed. I used the one bottle over six months ago and have not had a pain or an ache from rheumatism since."

From Greencastle, Ind., D. L. Southard has this to say of what Athlophoros did for him:

"When Bishop Bowman brought me a bottle of Athlophoros I was suffering greatly from rheumatism and could scarcely move. I began taking the medicine on Thursday morning. At 9 P. M. I went to sleep and slept until 6 o'clock Friday morning, when I got up and said to my wife: 'Dear, look here, I am well.' At the first I was so much better that I stopped using the medicine and the rheumatism came back. The second attack was not stopped so easily, but still in double the time the Athlophoros removed the pain. The medicine had no unpleasant effect, but seemed to quiet, soothe and give relief."

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, as directed. ATHLOPHOROS Co., 112 Wall Street, New York.

Benson's Capcine Plasters are widely imitated. That is the fact. Now, why are they imitated? Because they are the only porous plaster in existence that is really trustworthy and valuable. Benson's Plasters are highly and scientifically medicated, and cure in a few hours, ailments upon which no others had any effect whatever. The public are therefore cautioned against plasters bearing the names of "Capsicin," or "Capsicum," "Capsicine," or "Capucin," which are meant to pass for "Capcine" (please note the difference) and also against plasters bearing the names "Benton's" "Burton's," etc. When buying, ask distinctly for Benson's Plaster and protect yourself by a personal examination. The genuine has the word "Capcine" cut or porosued in the body of the plaster and the "Three Seals" trademark on the face cloth. 28daw-4w

OFFICIAL PAPER COUNTY AND CITY.

MONDAY, DEC. 29, 1885.

A WORD TO SUBSCRIBERS.

There is to be a revolution in the system of delivering newspapers in Fort Wayne. THE SENTINEL knows what an annoyance and dissappointment it is to subscribers when the carrier boys fail to leave a paper at their homes. This trouble can be obviated by making the boys directly responsible for all omissions and losses to subscribers, and next Saturday THE SENTINEL will place the circulation in the hands of its carrier boys. The price of THE SENTINEL will be but ten cents a week, as it has been, and there will be no other change than that noted above. The carrier boys will be more prompt, more regular and more earnest when they realize that the loss of a paper affects their purse and that an increase in the number of subscribers gives them a greater per centage and increased wages. The little fellows will canvass the city for themselves and besides leaving the paper to all our old subscribers, will endeavor to secure new ones. They serve THE SENTINEL readers in cold, snowy and wet weather. Use them kindly and help them make their money by paying promptly. THE SENTINEL management exercises a supremacy over the boys. They must do their duty to the paper and subscribers and any dereliction of duty or failure to leave the paper regularly must be noted at this office, if the carrier boy cannot be seen.

AT a recent marriage in Ohio the bride, a Miss Morris, wore a dress that was imported from Paris in 1742, for a wedding, and has been in the family ever since, being used only on such occasions. It was worn again in 1776 as a wedding dress, but not again till the other day, when Miss Morris donned it, and it is in almost as good condition as when new.

THE old-time trotting celebrity, Occident, died recently at Sacramento, after a couple of hours illness. He had the fastest record to his credit in 1873—2:16½—and raised an excitement all over the country. He was 22 years old, and appeared hale and hearty to the last. He was the property of Gov. Stanford, who purchased him from a butcher in Sacramento, the animal being used then to draw a delivery wagon.

A MAN who used to preach the gospel in the settlements has written to a friend in Eureka, Nevada, that he is running a bar in Uleda, Montana, and that his partner is Vaughn, an old-timer from California, who used to deal faro in Colorado, and was sent to the penitentiary for burglary. "He is a good gambling man," declares his ex-clerical partner in a burst of admiration, and adds by way of a personal vindication: "Selling whisky pays better than preaching, and besides it is no harder work."

THERE died in Wallingford, Connecticut, lately, a spinster, who remained one on account of a curious pre-nuptial quarrel. The day had been fixed for her wedding, and she and her intended husband began to put put down carpets in the house they were to occupy. She wanted them laid one way, he another. They quarrelled and separated. He died shortly afterward, and the lady never married.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" is called in French "Le Case de l'Oncle Tom;" in German, "Oncle Tom's Hutte;" in Danish, "Onkel Tomas;" in Dutch, "De Negerhut;" in Flemish, "De Hut van Onkel Tom;" in Hungarian, "Tama's Batya;" in Italian, "La Campanna Della Zio Tomaso;" in Polish, "Chata Wuja Tomasza;" in Portuguese, "A Cabana do Pai Thomaz;" in Spanish, "La Cabana del Tio Tomas;" in Russian, "Khizhina Dyadi Toma;" and in Swedish, "Onkel Tom's Stuga."

There are seven sisters in New York who possess 608 inches of raven black hair, and a statistician recently computed that their combined hair, if placed in single strands, would reach over 160 miles. They put their hair in silk bags at night to prevent it from tangling. The father of these girls, Rev. Fletcher Sutherland, has been pastor of the Methodist churches in Geneseo, Lyons, and Lockport, New York, and is the only survivor of President Buchanan's inaugural dinner, given at the National Hotel in Washington, at which some forty guests were poisoned.

ZOLA, the French novelist, is described as carrying a face combative, pert, dogged, egotistical, with thick, sensual lips, a turned-up nose, a conspicuous chin, and a good, broad, intellectual brow, with short and bristly hair atop of it. When Zola speaks, though it be only to say, "What fine weather we are having," he manages to convey the idea that he is uttering wisdom and being listened to by one who is presumably an ass. His life, his home, his face, his habits are those of an orderly, methodical rentier. In his youth he suffered privation and poverty.

SAN FRANCISCO is sending 11,000,000 Mexican dollars to China this year. The ungainly coin has steadily grown in use and favor among the Mongolians. The money comes to San Francisco in payment of goods purchased by Mexican merchants. The Mexican government is aware of this enormous amount of her coin being shipped to a foreign country without any return coming back. But the sister republic does not consider it as coin. The eleven mints are leased out to private individuals. The mints thus become simply factories in which a commodity is turned out for exportation to China—turned out in a convenient shape for handling, and called a Mexican dollar.

A GOOD deal has been said of late years as to the changes in the manners and customs of Quakers, who, it is urged, have put aside drab and lavender for more decided colors, and indulge in many ways after a fashion George Fox would have reprobated. But it appears from Mrs. Fry's life that in her day some Quakers, at any rate, were as frivolous as persons of any other sect. She and her sisters, the Misses Gurney, seem, indeed, to have had a thoroughly "good time," in the American girl's sense of that expression. She went to London in the season, and saw everything. Her hair was dressed in the height of fashion, and she "painted a little." When an American Quaker, of the old school, traveling in England on a religious mission, cast his eyes around the company, he was horrified and scandalized, especially at the appearance of Miss Elizabeth Gurney, who wore "purple boots laced with scarlet."

PHILIP D. ARMOUR, the "world's butcher," as a Chicago paper terms him, is of medium height, and heavy, but not fat. His face is full and round, without flabbiness. He speaks rapidly, and makes constant use of favorite expressions. His age is 50, and he is a stranger to illness. In manner he is plain and kindly. He does not know what style is. He lives in a plain house on Prairie avenue, and keeps fewer horses and servants than many men whose fortunes are not equal to his monthly income. He is from Watertown, N. Y., went to California, "cross the plains," remained until 1855, when he returned to Milwaukee, and engaged in the grain and warehouse business. He made a moderate fortune during the war, and at the close operated largely for a fall in prices. He made $2,000,000. He keeps 5,000 men employed, and sold, in 1884 $6,000,000 worth of food products. The 100 clerks who are employed in the Chicago office work under his own eyes. He rises at 5, breakfasts at 6, and at 7 is at his desk, where he remains till 6 in the afternoon. He dines at 6:30, and is in bed by 9.

There are two forms of chronic rheumatism; one in which the joints are swoolen and red without fever, and the appetite and digestion good, in the other the joints are neither red nor swollen, but only stiff and painful. In either form Salvation Oil may be relied on to effect cure. It kills pain. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Swift's Specific!

Is nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half breed from the Creek Indians who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The above cut represents the method of manufacture twenty years ago, by Mr. C. T. Swift, one of the present proprietors. The demand has been gradually increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. TOBACCO-SMOKING.

A Few Facts About the Use of the Weed.

In spite of the opposition encountered by our protest against cigarette smoking, which, it will be remembered, first raised the question about this form of the use of tobacco, it is now generally admitted that we are right, and our opponents wrong in the matter. The rapid consumption of the finely-shredded leaves very close to the mouth has been proved to render the practice of smoking cigarettes peculiarly objectionable. Moreover, it has been shown that although the use of a tube and the provision of a plug of cotton will lessen the evil, they do not wholly deprive the cigarette of its objectionable qualities.

We are not, as is well known, advocates of the disuse of tobacco. If moderately and wisely employed, it is a valuable sedative to the nerves, and has an especially soothing influence in the majority of instances. There are, however, certain properties of the tobacco smoke which ought to be more generally understood, It is unquestionably in some way a special sedative to the heart's action. We are not in the least surprised to find it stated that a considerable portion of the boys medically examined for the United States navy are rejected on the score of "weakness of the heart," and that this should be attributed to the habit of smoking cigarettes. As we pointed out when first directing attention to the subject, the sphygmograph shows a peculiar influence to be exerted by the smoking of tobacco, perticularly in the form of cigarettes, on the pulse, partly due to the depression of the heart's action, and partly to the vasomotor tone in the arteries. Those practitioners who do not habitually use the sphygmograph in their daily work, but content themselves with simply feeling the pulse with the finger, may not be aware of this fact. It is a fact, nevertheless. To this sedative action of the tobacco upon the heart may possibly be due that agreeable sense of quietude, and of "cooling" which is generally experienced when smoking in the heat of summer.

The points for which we are now especially anxious to call consideration are these: 1. The influence of tobacco is apparently cumulative. A warning sense of excess in the use of tobacco generally comes too late. The pipe, cigar, or cigarette may be laid aside, but the depressing or nauseating effect increases for some time. Nevertheless there is no valid reason to suppose tobacco or nicotine does not actually accumulate. 2. Excitation of the nerve centers, as by oxidation, seems to intensify the effects of tobacco, when once taken into the system. On going out into the open air and breathing quickly the characteristic sensations are nearly always for a time aggravated. 3. A cigar or cigarette smoked through a fine tube is generally "stronger" in its influence than the same smoked without the tube. These three results of observation and experiment seems to suggest the conclusion that the action of tobacco is topical as regards the nerves, the afferent radicals being first acted upon, and when these are brought under its influence the centers being affected from the periphery. In short, we incline to think tobacco is not absorbed, or if it be, its action is not due to absorption, but that it operates as a peripheral sedative, like cocaine, and produces its general effects as cocoa stops the sense of hunger, by numbing the nerves of the stomach, the central effects being secondary and to some extent reflex. It is worth while to pursue this subject further. We incline to think that tobacco may be found to have as yet unsuspected value therapeutically, if we can only arrive at a correct notion of the precise manner in which its effects are produced, and then determine how to use it. Great good would result from the recognition of tobacco as a drug, if only because then its abuse could be restrained. In the old days, before chloroform and other anæsthetics were discovered, the use of tobacco as a potent sedative to relax the muscles in dislocations, and to facilitate the reduction of hernia, was a clumsy expedient. It was speedially abandoned when better stupefying agents were provided. It would, however, have been wiser to investigate the action of the agent more closely, instead of throwing it wholly aside.—London Lancet.

Ritualistic Masons.

There is a class of Freemasons who are as great sticklers for their rituals as the Episcopalians are for theirs. One of this sort, it is said, was Master of an Indiana lodge, and, by an overexercise of authority, came to grief. He had trained his lodge to observe his commands with absolute precision, and among the rest never to take their seats in the lodge until the gavel fell. One night he had them on the rise, performing the exercise peculiar to the craft, when accidentally he slipped, stumbled backward, broke the window sash, fell four stories to the ground, broke his neck and died instantly. Next day the neighbors were horrified at the discovery of his cadaver. They had a grand funeral, only it was noticed that not a Mason was present. In fact the Masons had disappeared. Their estates were settled, widows married again, and in time all were forgotten. A quarter century passed away, when some boys monkeying round the upper story of the Court House, found a skeleton. The alarmed population broke open the doors, and a sight was presented that might have been appalling, but for its whimsicalness. Thirty skeletons were standing, gazing intently at that broken sash, and waiting for the Master to come back and give that one knock which would enable them to take their seats! The incident may by some be reckoned incredible, but I have myself seen one of the skeletons.—Dr. Morris, in Courier Journal.

The Chinese say a large nose indicates shrewdness; but we say that a red nose and a barking cough indicate the need of a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The Art of Type-Writing.

The type-writer is generally supposed to be a machine of recent invention, but it really dates as far back as 1714. One Henry Mill obtained in that year, in England, a patent for a device that would "write in printed characters, one at a time, and one after the other." There is no description of his device to be had now, but it is no doubt true that Mill's invention was the parent of the present type-writer. The idea seems to have lain dormant for over one hundred years, when it was taken up again by various inventors, who sought at sundry times to embody it in a machine that would work satisfactorily, but apparently without success until 1867, when a firm in Milwaukee made a type-writer that was actually used.

Improvements were made from time to time, each one leading to another, when the Remingtons took hold of it and produced the standard machine that is now sold by the thousand all over the world. To such perfection has this machine been brought that even the most detailed and intricate statements, containing column after column of figures, can be readily made with it, and in a neat and business-like form that is impossible with the pen of the average writer. Its use has opened a field for women who have to earn their living, that never exised before. They are naturally expert and skillful in using the fingers, and they readily learn to use the typewriter with great speed. A number of schools have added it to their regular course, and young men who learn to use it find it far easier to obtain situations. Charles Reade said: "I advise parents to have their boys and girls taught short-hand writing and typewriting. A short-hand writer who can typewrite his notes would be safer from poverty than a Greek scholar."

Dr. Brudenell Carter, the famous surgeon of London, when here visiting the Centennial, bought every American invention that he thought would be of use to him, and among them a typewriter. In a treatise of his on the eye and how to preserve it, published not long age, he give a cut of a typewriter, and advised all persons who are "near-sighted" to use it.

The speed with which an expert operator can rattle off words and sentences is wonderful to one who has never tried to use the machine. The fingers play with a swift and ceaseless motion over the keys, accompanied by the monotonous "rat-rat" of the machine, and sheet after sheet of neatly-written manuscript is taken from the roller, from two to three times as fast as an average penman can produce it. Few people write with a pen faster than twenty or thirty words a minute; an expert will bring out of the type-writer fifty to eighty words a minute. What, then, must be the value of a clerk who is an expert at both short-hand and type-writing?

Cure for Diphtheria.

A Chicago gentleman sends the Inter Ocean the following cure of diphtheria. As the disease is one greatly to be feared, and the remedy is highly spoken of, we give it place:

A child about 9 years of age became violently ill with diphtheria. She was so weak that it was deemed dangerous to try tracheotomy, or cutting open the windpipe. A Dr. Nicholas, who was attending her, received a copy of the Paris Figaro, French Academy of Medicine, by Dr. Delthill, which said that the vapors of liquid tar and turpentine would dissolve the fibrations exudations which choke up the throat in croup and diptheria.

Directions: Pour equal parts of turpentine and liquid tar into a tin pan or cup and set fire to the mixture, taking care to have a large pan under it as a safeguard against fire. A dense resinous smoke arises, making the room dark. "The patient" Dr. Delthill says, "immediately seems to experience relief; the choking and rattle stop, the patient falls into a slumber, and seems to inhale the smoke with pleasure. The fibrinous membrane soon becomes detached, and the patient coughs up microbicides. These, when caught in a glass, may be seen to dissolve in the smoke. In the course of three days after the patient entirely recovers." Dr. Nicholas tried this treatment with the little girl spoken of. She was lying gasping for breath when he visited her. He took two tablespoonsful of liquid tar and same quantity of turpentine, and set on fire. The rich resinous smoke which rose to the ceiling was by no means unpleasant. As it filled the room the child's breathing became natural, and as the smoke grew dense she fell asleep.

We hear a great deal in these speculative days of lucky investments. The most lucky investment which a man can make would ce a bottle of St. Jacobs oil. He would never be troubled with aches or pain and could devote his time to making money.

Use Dr. Pierce's "Pellets" for constipation.

"Are you riding your bicycle now, Johnson?" "No." "Swore off?" "No; fell off."

Why continue the use of irritating powders, snuffs or liquids. Ely's Cream Balm, pleasant of application and a sure cure for catarrh and cold in the head, can be had for 50c, at druggists. It is easily applied with the finger, is safe and pleasant and is curing the most obstinate cases. It gives relief at once.

Being a sufferer from chronic catarrh, and having derived great benefit from the use of Ely's Cream Balm I can highly recommend it. Its sales are far in excess of all other catarrh remedies —B. Franken, druggist, Sigourney, Ia.

Utah Wonders.

There is in the extreme north of Utah a magnificent subterranean reservoir of first-class soda-water, bubbling and effervescing out of the ground in such quantities that all America might be supplied. In the extreme south, on the road to Orderville, is an exquisite circular lakelet that is always just full to the brim with water as clear and as green as beryl. And where the water overflows the lake's edge it incrusts the ground, and the grass, and the fallen leaves upon it with a fine coating of limestone, so that the brim is growing higher and higher with the imperceptible but certain growth of a coral reef, and in the course of generations the lake will become a concreted basin.

Symptoms.

Slight pain in the side, the skin and eyes assume a thick yellow coat, digestion is impaired, an unpleasant sinking sensation at the pit of the stomach is experienced, the bowels are irregular the mind fretful, the memory weakened, sometimes a slight cough, coldness of the hands and feet, sometimes loss oppetite, and at others unnatural craving for food, dizziness of the head, blurring before the eyes, depressed spirits, bad breath, feeling of uncertainty of having left something undone but can't tell what it is Take Simmons Liver Regulater, it will remove all these symptoms and make you well.

Bracelets and necklaces are worn very narrow.

A CASH BASIS.

The County Debt Bonded to the Extent of $200,000.

Yesterday the county commissioners met and decided to bond $200,000 outstanding county orders. The bonds are to be dated January 1, 1886, and bear 5 per cent. interest and become payable in installments from 1888 to the year 1896, in sums of from $15,000 to $25,000. The bonds can be sold at a premium, and this premium and 1 per cent. interest is a clean saving to the tax payers, as the county orders draw 6 per cent. interest. After bonding the county orders there is now and will be $72,000 cash in the treasury. This will keep the county on a cash basis and procure work at cheap cash prices until next June, when $110,000 cash will be collected. Then a sinking fund will be created to wipe out the bonds and thus will the debt of Allen county, honestly created for improvements, be wiped out and we won't owe a dollar.

Hon. R. C. Bell and Auditor Griebel are now at Indianapolis to have the bonds engraved and next Saturday the commissioners meet to sign the papers and advertise for proposals.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

"Paquita" will be produced at the Temple to-night under the supervision of its author and popular playwright, Bartley Campbell. The play turns upon the love of Hortense de la Rey, the wife of a young physician, for one Jose Borosco, a picturesque adventurer. When Dr. de la Rey understands the situation, he banishes both culprits from his presence. Later on the woman's brother meets the seducer and wounds him in a duel, a somewhat needless complication being produced at this point by the intervention of a young Mexican person named Paquita, who is platonically enamored of De la Rey, and who add a few scruples of lead to the solid ounce of metal with which the victim's adversary favors him. The company appearing here is said to be a strong one, and Frank C. Cooper, a newspaper man, favorably remembered here, is business manager.

The second concert under the supervision of Miss Minnie Anderson was attended by a fashionable audience at the Temple last night. The instrumental music was superb and Miss Kenower earned encores. Altogether the program was artistically observed.

The Gray & Stephens Dramatic company played to a magnificent audience at the Academy last night. Miss Minnie Oscar Gray is pert, pretty and a pleasing actress. The little lady delighted her audience and indeed her support was admirable. The company play here all week at popular prices and the play is very entertaining and amusing. It is clean, genteel and spicy.

The building they have erected is a frame, 40x60, worth between $1,500 and $2,000. The Rev. Dr. Blanchard, president of the Wesleyan Methodist college, at Wheaton, Ill., preached the dedicatory sermon. The house seats 450 people, and was three times crowded to overflowing Sunday. The collection $366.50 was sufficient to more than pay off the remaining indebtedness. The church's pastor for the year is Rev. Hyles, formerly of Greensburg, a Wesleyan Methodist.

IN HIS HONOR.

The Hendricks Monument Association Organized.

OFFICE OF THE ALLEN CO. HENDRICKS MONUMENT ASSOCIATION, FORT WAYNE, IND.

To the People of Allen County:

The life and character of Thomas A Hendricks affords ample opportunity to every citizen of the republic to unite in the endeavor to do honor to his memory.

Common ground upon which men of all parties may stand is readily found in the purity of his walk and conversation, in the nobility and integrity of his character, and in the honest and devoted manner in which he filled every trust committed to his hands.

In the lives of too many of our great men there have been whole chapters which must be hidden from public view. Athwart the glory of their illustrious names fall dark and forbidden shadows. There were no such dark pages in the records of Mr. Hendricks' life. He stood among his compeers like Saul among the Israelites, head and shoulders above them all, conspicuous by virtue of the honesty and integrity of his public life and the stainless purity of his private character.

To a vast portion of our people he stood for years an able and trusted political leader. In the ranks of a numerous and honored profession, filled with noted men, he held an eminent and distinguished position. His influence in shaping the course of our commonwealth has been second to that of none of the great men of our state. Safe as a leader, wise as a counselor, true as a friend, as a man, honest, his memory is worthy of more than passing tribute from the people of the state which loved him so well and whose loving confidence he repaid with a well rounded measure of unselfish devotion.

It is in recognition of what is due to his memory that the people of Indiana propose to build a monument which shall show to future generations that in his own day Thomas A. Hendricks was loved and revered of men. To do less than this would be unworthy of the great state which knew him best and which best he served.

The work of raising funds for this purpose has already been begun and is being vigorously carried on throughout the state. We have been asked to assume the duty of conducting the work in this county. Great things are expected of "Old Allen." Let us not be found wanting. Let us give; each man according to his ability.

A canvassing committee has been appointed in each ward in the city and in each township outside in the county. It is hoped that every person will have the opportunity to contribute something to the cause which we herewith present.

The names of all contributors, whatever the amount, will be published in our city and county papers and forwarded to the Hendricks Monument association at Indianapolis, where they will be properly recorded and deposited in the public library. Let us in this matter do credit to our country and to ourselves. We trust that the various committees will begin their work at once and that the people will meet them in a cordial and generous spirit. These committees do not undertake this work from choice. It has been placed upon them and is "a labor of love" on their part. Let our people remember this and receive them in a kindly and courteous manner. The various committees which have been asked to do the work of canvassing their respective districts are given below:

A CLAY BUST

Mr. Parks Exhibits His First Model of the Great Statesman at Indianapolis.

President Cleveland Writes a Friendly Note on the Proposed Hendricks Monument.

THE HENDRICKS BUST.

Sculptor Park's First Work Satisfactorily Completed.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 29.—R. H. Parks, the sculptor, has completed in clay his bust of the late Vice President Hendricks, and during the past three or four days has allowed a number of persons to see it. This model is made for Mrs. Hendricks, and, if accepted, the bust will be made in bronze. The model has been critically viewed by Mrs. Hendricks, Maj. A. W. Hendricks, Oscar B. Hord and others, and has received their approval. It is indeed a striking likeness of Mr. Hendricks, the artist having happily achieved his best expression. The lines are somewhat softened and represent Mr. Hendricks rather as he was five or six years ago than during the last two years of his life, when suffering and anxiety had left their marks upon him.

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 29.—Last evening Senator Voorhees received a letter from the president approving the project of erecting a monument to the memory of the late vice-president and saying that his relations with Mr. Hendricks, both personal and official, were such that it would be a source of much satisfaction to him to see this good work promptly begun and at the proper time he hoped to be allowed to aid the undertaking. In reply to the president's communication Senator Voorhees wrote his thanks to the president in behalf of his personal friends and the general body of people of Indiana.

A meeting of Indianians now in this city will be held on Friday night, Jan. 8, to take steps toward collecting a fund for the Hendricks monument.

A Card From Hon. Charles McCulloch.

To the Editor of THE SENTINEL:

I sincerely believe there is a strong pressure being brought to bear upon the county commissioners to fund the county debt, which, I think, is entirely unwise and unnecessary at the present time. It will therefore be well for them to consider who these parties are that come to them with advice, and also what class of men are expecting to be directly benefitted thereby. My advice therefore to Messrs. Hartman, Lloyd and Brannan is to go slow and feel well the public pulse before they take a big step that they may always regret. The words "Retrenchment and Economy" will look better over their front door plates than "Funding" over the democratic parties' tombstone. I know there have been in the past few years extraordinary expenses for the county to meet in the way of iron bridge building and I also know there has been a system of drawing money from the treasury in the way of ditch commissioners' services and county expenses that the commissioners could not help, but can be largely reduced in the future, I also believe that a few contractors have grown rather too suddenly rich. All this can be largely abated in the future, if the commissioners will only say it shall be so. Admitting, therefore, that there are at present $250,000 of county orders afloat; Mr. Griebel tells me that the treasurer holds at present ninety-two thousand dollars of county fund money, which, if applied toward redeeming orders would leave only a little over one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of orders out. The orders now out are being easily carried by our own people who pay taxes, as is evidenced that none to any amount have sold below 98 cents, and a large sale the other day was made by the Smith bridge company at 98¼. It is not true that they are hawked about the streets, for they find ready purchasers at these figures. Why pay interest on them to wealthy corporations and capitalists abroad when they are sought for at home?

Funding will not reduce the debt, only postpone the day of payment. The amount of orders now afloat serve the purpose of making the officials more economical, and I believe with a general practical reform executed in every department of the county government, $30,000 more of a reduction can be made each year than is being done at present. Do not let any one put himself in the way to obstruct reformation, from the judge on the bench to the humblest official, and I most seriously advise the commissioners, the several officials, the judges of the courts, and the township trustees altogether to consider the wisdom of a timely reform. If it is commenced now, five years will see us out of debt, and nobody injured, except the party who expects to obtain a handsome commission for negotiating the loan, a half dozen contractors and the foreign bondholder. Reformation is something that is generally put at a distance in order to be made to look lonely, and its greatest favorers generally love it better in the abstract than in the substance; but where there is a will there is a way. There is an urgent necessity that something of this kind should be done. Our political circumstances demand it, for we live in a democratic county. I for one want to keep it so, that it may be in the future what it has been in the past, the banner democratic county. Let us keep it free from any bonded embellishments, so we can point to it with pride, when our republican friends elsewhere look aghast at our majorities. Our city bonded debt, make up of railroad donations, is large enough. Let the county be kept free, as it has been in the past.

AN AWFUL STORY.

Cruel Torture Endured a Young Woman for Her Family.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

MADISON, IND., Dec. 29.—Mrs. Highland Lumm, a worthy widow and her two unmarried daughters, Sarah and Mary, reside in the west end and sew for a livelihood. On Christmas day they dined with a married sister, Mrs. Oscar Trigg.

That evening Mary, the younger, was too ill to return home, and Sarah remained over night with her. Her suffering was in her side, and became so severe that Sarah got some antidote, which she proposed applying. Mary said the place was raw and she preferred to make the application herself. Sarah insisted on helping her, when Mary finally agreed that she might, but first had all the family called. Removing her clothing, a horrible sight was presented. A dreadful cancer had almost destroyed her left breast, exposing her ribs to view.

The mother fainted and all the family were shocked with grief. Three physicians were summoned, who pronounced it a hopeless case. The poor girl says she has known and suffered from the cancer for two years, keeping it a secret from the rest of the folks because she knew it would only trouble them and they could not help her.

A LEVEL-HEADED NEWSDEALER.

Newsdealers are as a class popularly supposed to know a good thing when they see it and are ever on the lookout for that which will interest and please the public. In a humble way Edison was once a newsdealer, having sold papers on railroads. Among newsdealers who have a keen eye to business and to everything that can be ... is Mr. G. W. Dove, of Vincennes, ..., whose place of business is at No. 114 Second street. Mr. Dove was recently afflicted with rheumatism, but quickly cured himself by using Athlophoros. This is what he says about it:

"Athlophoros is a good medicine and it did for me all that I could ask. At the time when I began using it I was sadly afflicted with rheumatism. I was in a helpless state and suffered untold pain, not being able to get out of bed or to be moved without enduring the greatest agony. I had read some time before of the wonderful cures of people effected by Athlophoros, and at the time tried to buy it at the drug stores, but could not find any. As I was determined to try it I sent to the company for some."

"Did it act quickly upon you?"

"I felt the effects almost immediately. After I had taken a few doses the pain subsided. The medicine seemed to go directly where the pain was."

"Have you had any return of the pain?"

"I have not suffered any to speak of since. I used only three bottles and consider it the best medicine for rheumatism that I know of. I recommended it to a gentleman in St. Louis who had his mother use some and was very much pleased with the result. I have recommended it to different persons, and in every instance where it was used it gave entire satisfaction."

J. A. Wilson, the well-known photographer, 6 and 8 Main St., New Albany, tells an equally interesting story of how Athlophoros cured him of rheumatism:

"I only used one bottle," he says. "The rheumatism was in my arms and I had sharp, shooting pains. I was suffering and complaining a great deal, when a friend coming into my gallery one morning asked me what the trouble was. I said it was rheumatism. Said my friend: 'I was reading of a medicine that is for the cure of rheumatism and neuralgia. It struck me forcibly, as it did not claim to cure every complaint that flesh is heir to.' When I asked him what it was he said the name was Athlophoros. I bought a bottle on the strength of what he said. That was all I needed. I used the one bottle over six months ago and have not had a pain or an ache from rheumatism since."

From Greencastle, Ind., D. L. Southard has this to say of what Athlophoros did for him:

"When Bishop Bowman brought me a bottle of Athlophoros I was suffering greatly from rheumatism and could scarcely move. I began taking the medicine on Thursday morning. At 9 P. M. I went to sleep and slept until 6 o'clock Friday morning, when I got up and said to my wife: 'Dear, look here, I am well.' At the first I was so much better that I stopped using the medicine and the rheumatism came back. The second attack was not stopped so easily, but still in double the time the Athlophoros removed the pain. The medicine had no unpleasant effect, but seemed to quiet, soothe and give relief."

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, as directed. ATHLOPHOROS Co., 112 Wall Street, New York.

Benson's Capcine Plasters are widely imitated. That is the fact. Now, why are they imitated? Because they are the only porous plaster in existence that is really trustworthy and valuable. Benson's Plasters are highly and scientifically medicated, and cure in a few hours, ailments upon which no others had any effect whatever. The public are therefore cautioned against plasters bearing the names of "Capsicin," or "Capsicum," "Capsicine," or "Capucin," which are meant to pass for "Capcine" (please note the difference) and also against plasters bearing the names "Benson's" "Burton's," etc. When buying, ask distinctly for Benson's Plaster and protect yourself by a personal examination. The genuine has the word "Capcine" cut or perforated in the body of the plaster and the "Three Seals" trademark on the face cloth. mdaw4w

OFFICIAL PAPER COUNTY AND CITY.

MONDAY, DEC. 29, 1885.

A WORD TO SUBSCRIBERS.

There is to be a revolution in the system of delivering newspapers in Fort Wayne. THE SENTINEL knows what an annoyance and disappointment it is to subscribers when the carrier boys fail to leave a paper at their homes. This trouble can be obviated by making the boys directly responsible for all omissions and losses to subscribers, and next Saturday THE SENTINEL will place the circulation in the hands of its carrier boys. The price of THE SENTINEL will be but ten cents a week, as it has been, and there will be no other change than that noted above. The carrier boys will be more prompt, more regular and more earnest when they realize that the loss of a paper affects their purse and that an increase in the number of subscribers gives them a greater per centage and increased wages. The little fellows will canvass the city for themselves and besides leaving the paper to all our old subscribers, will endeavor to secure new ones. They serve THE SENTINEL readers in cold, snowy and wet weather. Use them kindly and help them make their money by paying promptly. THE SENTINEL management exercises a supremacy over the boys. They must do their duty to the paper and subscribers and any dereliction of duty or failure to leave the paper regularly must be noted at this office, if the carrier boy cannot be seen.

AT a recent marriage in Ohio the bride, a Miss Morris, wore a dress that was imported from Paris in 1742, for a wedding, and has been in the family ever since, being used only on such occasions. It was worn again in 1776 as a wedding dress, but not again till the other day, when Miss Morris donned it, and it is in almost as good condition as when new.

MRS. CHADWICK, of St. Louis, widow of Capt. Robert Chadwick, who served in the war of 1812, is in many respects one of the most interesting of American ladies. Mrs. Chadwick is now in her 96th year. She was born in Saybrook, Conn., and is of the eighth generation in a direct line from Peregrine White, the first white child of Pilgrim stock born in America.

WILLIAM ELWOOD, a noted New York gentlemanly burglar, was recently discovered eating soap. His fellow-prisoners say he has eaten two cakes a day for a month in order to reduced his weight and give him a consumptive appearance. When searched tobacco was found in his armpits. Physicians say this will reduce weight. Elwood is awaiting trial for the burglary, and for shooting a policeman.

A PROJECT is on foot for introducing in London a new style of four-wheel cab, with many improvements on the existing vehicle, an important modification being that the cab can be readily used as an open one. The new cabs will be well horsed and well driven by men in uniform. Improved hansoms are also contemplated, and it is proposed that for both descriptions of vehicle the fare shall be sixpence per mile.

THE old-time trotting celebrity, Occident, died recently at Sacramento, after a couple of hours illness. He had the fastest record to his credit in 1873—2:16¾—and raised an excitement all over the country. He was 22 years old, and appeared hale and hearty to the last. He was the property of Gov. Stanford, who purchased him from a butcher in Sacramento, the animal being used then to draw a delivery wagon.

A MAN who used to preach the gospel in the settlements has written to a friend in Eureka, Nevada, that he is running a bar in Ulcda, Montana, and that his partner is Vaughn, an old-timer from California, who used to deal faro in Colorado, and was sent to the penitentiary for burglary. "He is a good gambling man," declares his ex-clerical partner in a burst of admiration, and adds by way of a personal vindication: "Selling whisky pays better than preaching, and besides it is no harder work."

THERE died in Wallingford, Connecticut, lately, a spinster, who remained one on account of a curious pre-nuptial quarrel. The day had been fixed for her wedding, and she and her intended husband began to put put down carpets in the house they were to occupy. She wanted them laid one way, he another. They quarrelled and separated. He died shortly afterward, and the lady never married.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" is called in French "La Case de l'Oncle Tom;" in German, "Oncle Tom's Hutte;" in Danish, "Onkel Tomas;" in Dutch, "De Negerhut;" in Flemish, "De Hut van Onkel Tom;" in Hungarian, "Tama's Batya;" in Italian, "La Capanna Della Zio Tomaso;" in Polish, "Chata Wuja Tomasza;" in Portuguese, "A Cabana do Pai Thomaz;" in Spanish, "La Cabana del Tio Tomas;" in Russian, "Khizhina Dyadi Toma;" and in Swedish, "Onkel Tom's Stuga."

There are seven sisters in New York who possess 608 inches of raven black hair, and a statistician recently computed that their combined hair, if placed in single strands, would reach over 160 miles. They put their hair in silk bags at night to prevent it from tangling. The father of these girls, Rev. Fletcher Sutherland has been pastor of the Methodist churches in Geneseo, Lyons, and Lockport, New York, and is the only survivor of President Buchanan's inaugural dinner, given at the National Hotel in Washington, at which some forty guests were poisoned.

ZOLA, the French novelist, is described as carrying a face combative, pert, dogged, egotistical, with thick, sensual lips, a turned-up nose, a conspicuous chin, and a good, broad, intellectual brow, with short and bristly hair atop of it. When Zola speaks, though it be only to say, "What fine weather we are having," he manages to convey the idea that he is uttering wisdom and being listened to by one who is presumably an ass. His life, his home, his face, his habits are those of an orderly, methodical rentier. In his youth he suffered privation and poverty.

SAN FRANCISCO is sending 11,000,000 Mexican dollars to China this year. The ungainly coin has steadily grown in use and favor among the Mongolians. The money comes to San Francisco in payment of goods purchased by Mexican merchants. The Mexican government is aware of this enormous amount of her coin being shipped to a foreign country without any return coming back. But the sister republic does not consider it as coin. The eleven mints are leased out to private individuals. The mints thus become simply factories in which a commodity is turned out for exportation to China—turned out in a convenient shape for handling, and called a Mexican dollar.

A GOOD deal has been said of late years as to the changes in the manners and customs of Quakers, who, it is urged, have put aside drab and lavender for more decided colors, and indulge in many ways after a fashion George Fox would have reprobated. But it appears from Mrs. Fry's life that in her day some Quakers, at any rate, were as frivolous as persons of any other sect. She and her sisters, the Misses Gurney, seem, indeed, to have had a thoroughly "good time," in the American girl's sense of that expression. She went to London in the season, and saw everything. Her hair was dressed in the height of fashion, and she "painted a little." When an American Quaker, of the old school, traveling in England on a religious mission, cast his eyes around the company, he was horrified and scandalized, especially at the appearance of Miss Elizabeth Gurney, who wore "purple boots laced with scarlet."

PHILIP D. ARMOUR, the "world's butcher," as a Chicago paper terms him, is of medium height, and heavy, but not fat. His face is full and round, without flabbiness. He speaks rapidly, and makes constant use of favorite expressions. His age is 50, and he is a stranger to illness. In manner he is plain and kindly. He does not know what style is. He lives in a plain house on Prairie avenue, and keeps fewer horses and servants than many men whose fortunes are not equal to his monthly income. He is from Watertown, N. Y., went to California, "cross the plains," remained until 1855, when he returned to Milwaukee, and engaged in the grain and warehouse business. He made a moderate fortune during the war, and at the close operated largely for a fall in prices. He made $2,000,000. He keeps 5,000 men employed, and sold, in 1884 $6,000,000 worth of food products. The 100 clerks who are employed in the Chicago office work under his own eyes. He rises at 5, breakfasts at 6, and at 7 is at his desk, where he remains till 6 in the afternoon. He dines at 6:30, and is in bed by 9.

There are two forms of chronic rheumatism; one in which the joints are swollen and red without fever, and the appetite and digestion good, in the other the joints are neither red nor swollen, but only stiff and painful. In either form Salvation Oil may be relied on to effect cure. It kills pain. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Miller officiated.

The report to the effect that Mr. Absalom Fry's leg, which was thought not to be in proper place and needed to be rebroken and reset, we are glad to learn is false. We make this correction in justice to Dr. McHenry, the attending surgeon.

Wayne Hart, the young man from this place who was arrested Thursday night for nipping handkerchiefs silk handkerchiefs from the Fort Wayne Fruit House, is at home. Hart is the son of a respectable and wealthy citizen. It is claimed by many that it was not his intention to steal, as his mind was mentally deranged at the time. He has always been of a quiet and peaceable disposition, having always a good reputation.

The ball at the Viniard rink last Friday night, was largely attended by lovers of the dance. Flaugh's celebrated orchestra furnished excellent music for the occasion, and those present were highly pleased with the management and order maintained. There will be another on New Year's night.

Monroeville, Dec. 28, 1885.

Swift's Specific!

Is nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half breed from the Creek Indians who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The above cut represents the method of manufacture twenty years ago, by Mr. C. T. Swift, one of the present proprietors. The demand has been gradually increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. TOBACCO-SMOKING.

A Few Facts About the Use of the Weed.

In spite of the opposition encountered by our protest against cigarette smoking, which, it will be remembered, first raised the question about this form of the use of tobacco, it is now generally admitted that we are right and our opponents wrong in the matter. The rapid consumption of the finely-shredded leaves very close to the mouth has been proved to render the practice of smoking cigarettes peculiarly objectionable. Moreover, it has been shown that although the use of a tube and the provision of a plug of cotton will lessen the evil, they do not wholly deprive the cigarette of its objectionable qualities.

We are not, as is well known, advocates of the disuse of tobacco. If moderately and wisely employed, it is a valuable sedative to the nerves, and has an especially soothing influence in the majority of instances. There are, however, certain properties of the tobacco smoke which ought to be more generally understood. It is unquestionably in some way a special sedative to the heart's action. We are not in the least surprised to find it stated that a considerable portion of the boys medically examined for the United States navy are rejected on the score of "weakness of the heart," and that this should be attributed to the habit of smoking cigarettes. As we pointed out when first directing attention to the subject, the sphygmograph shows a peculiar influence to be exerted by the smoking of tobacco, perticularly in the form of cigarettes, on the pulse, partly due to the depression of the heart's action, and partly to the vaso-motor tone in the arteries. Those practitioners who do not habitually use the sphygmograph in their daily work, but content themselves with simply feeling the pulse with the finger, may not be aware of this fact. It is a fact, nevertheless. To this sedative action of the tobacco upon the heart may possibly be due that agreeable sense of quietude, and of "cooling" which is generally experienced when smoking in the heat of summer.

The points for which we are now especially anxious to call consideration are these: 1. The influence of tobacco is apparently cumulative. A warning sense of excess in the use of tobacco generally comes too late. The pipe, cigar, or cigarette may be laid aside, but the depressing or nauseating effect increases for some time. Nevertheless there is no valid reason to suppose tobacco or nicotine does not actually accumulate. 2. Excitation of the nerve centers, as by oxidation, seems to intensify the effects of tobacco, when once taken into the system. On going out into the open air and breathing quickly the characteristic sensations are nearly always for a time aggravated. 3. A cigar or cigarette smoked through a fine tube is generally "stronger" in its influence than the same smoked without the tube. These three results of observation and experiment seems to suggest the conclusion that the action of tobacco is topical as regards the nerves, the afferent radicals being first acted upon, and when these are brought under its influence the centers being affected from the periphery. In short, we incline to think tobacco is not absorbed, or if it be, its action is not due to absorption, but that it operates as a peripheral sedative, like cocaine, and produces its general effects as cocoa stops the sense of hunger, by numbing the nerves of the stomach, the central effects being secondary and to some extent reflex. It is worth while to pursue this subject further. We incline to think that tobacco may be found to have as yet unsuspected value therapeutically, if we can only arrive at a correct notion of the precise manner in which its effects are produced, and then determine how to use it. Great good would result from the recognition of tobacco as a drug, if only because then its abuse could be restrained. In the old days, before chloroform and other anæsthetics were discovered, the use of tobacco as a potent sedative to relax the muscles in dislocations, and to facilitate the reduction of hernia, was a clumsy expedient. It was speedially abandoned when better stupefying agents were provided. It would, however, have been wiser to investigate the action of the agent more closely, instead of throwing it wholly aside.—London Lancet.

Ritualistic Masons.

There is a class of Freemasons who are as great sticklers for their rituals as the Episcopalians are for theirs. One of this sort, it is said, was Master of an Indiana lodge, and, by an over-exercise of authority, came to grief. He had trained his lodge to observe his commands with absolute precision, and among the rest never to take their seats in the lodge until the gavel fell. One night he had them on the rise, performing the exercise peculiar to the craft, when accidentally he slipped, stumbled backward, broke the window sash, fell four stories to the ground, broke his neck and died instantly. Next day the neighbors were horrified at the discovery of his cadaver. They had a grand funeral, only it was noticed that not a Mason was present. In fact the Masons had disappeared. Their estates were settled, widows married again, and in time all were forgotten. A quarter century passed away, when some boys monkeying round the upper story of the Court House, found a skeleton. The alarmed populaton broke open the door, and a sight was presented that might have been appalling, but for its whimsicalness. Thirty skeletons were standing, gazing intently at that broken sash, and waiting for the Master to come back and give that one knock which would enable them to take their seats! The incident may by some be reckoned incredible, but I have myself seen one of the skeletons.—Dr. Morris, in Courier Journal.

The Chinese say a large nose indicates shrewdness; but we say that a red nose and a barking cough indicate the need of a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The Art of Type-Writing.

The type-writer is generally supposed to be a machine of recent invention, but it really dates as far back as 1714. One Henry Mill obtained in that year, in England, a patent for a device that would "write in printed characters, one at a time and one after the other." There is no description of his device to be had now, but it is no doubt true that Mill's invention was the parent of the present type-writer. The idea seems to have lain dormant for over one hundred years, when it was taken up again by various inventors, who sought at sundry times to embody it in a machine that would work satisfactorily, but apparently without success until 1867, when a firm in Milwaukee made a type-writer that was actually used.

Improvements were made from time to time, each one leading to another, when the Remingtons took hold of it and produced the standard machine that is now sold by the thousand all over the world. To such perfection has this machine been brought that even the most detailed and intricate statements, containing column after column of figures, can be readily made with it, and in a neat and business-like form that is impossible with the pen of the average writer. Its use has opened a field for women who have to earn their living, that never exised before. They are naturally expert and skillful in using the fingers, and they readily learn to use the typewriter with great speed. A number of schools have added it to their regular course, and young men who learn to use it find it far easier to obtain situations. Charles Reade said: "I advise parents to have their boys and girls taught short-hand writing and typewriting. A short-hand writer who can typewrite his notes would be safer from poverty than a Greek scholar."

Dr. Brudenell Carter, the famous surgeon of London, when here visiting the Centennial, bought every American invention that he thought would be of use to him, and among them a type-writer. In a treatise of his on the eye and how to preserve it, published not long ago, he give a cut of a type-writer, and advised all persons who are "near-sighted" to use it.

The speed with which an expert operator can rattle off words and sentences is wonderful to one who has never tried to use the machine. The fingers play with a swift and ceaseless motion over the keys, accompanied by the monotonous "rat-rat" of the machine, and sheet after sheet of neatly-written manuscript is taken from the roller, from two to three times as fast as an average penman can produce it. Few people write with a pen faster than twenty or thirty words a minute; an expert will bring out of the type-writer fifty to eighty words a minute. What, then, must be the value of a clerk who is an expert at both short-hand and type-writing?

Cure for Diphtheria.

A Chicago gentleman sends the Inter Ocean the following cure of diphtheria. As the disease is one greatly to be feared, and the remedy is highly spoken of, we give it place:

A child about 9 years of age became violently ill with diphtheria. She was so weak that it was deemed dangerous to try tracheotomy, or cutting open the windpipe. A Dr. Nicholas, who was attending her, received a copy of the Paris Figaro, French Academy of Medicine, by Dr. Delthill, which said that the vapors of liquid tar and turpentine would dissolve the filrations exudations which choke up the throat in croup and diptheria.

Directions: Pour equal parts of turpentine and liquid tar into a tin pan or cup and set fire to the mixture, taking care to have a large pan under it as a safeguard against fire. A dense resinous smoke arises, making the room dark. "The patient" Dr. Delthill says, "immediately seems to experience relief; the choking and rattle stop, the patient falls into a slumber, and seems to inhale the smoke with pleasure. The fibrinous membrane soon becomes detached, and the patient coughs up microbicides. These, when caught in a glass, may be seen to dissolve in the smoke. In the course of three days after the patient entirely recovers." Dr. Nicholas tried this treatment with the little girl spoken of. She was lying gasping for breath when he visited her. He took two tablespoonsful of liquid tar and same quantity of turpentine, and set on fire. The rich resinous smoke which rose to the ceiling was by no means unpleasant. As it filled the room the child's breathing became natural, and as the smoke grew dense she fell asleep.

We hear a great deal in these speculative days of lucky investments. The most lucky investment which a man can make would be a bottle of St. Jacobs oil. He would never be troubled with aches or pain and could devote his time to making money.

Use Dr. Pierce's "Pellets" for constipation.

"Are you riding your bicycle now, Johnson?" "No." "Swore off?" "No; fell off."

Why continue the use of irritating powders, snuffs or liquids. Ely's Cream Balm, pleasant of application and a sure cure for catarrh and cold in the head, can be had for 50c, at druggists. It is easily applied with the finger, is safe and pleasant and is curing the most obstinate cases. It gives relief at once.

Being a sufferer from chronic catarrh, and having derived great benefit from the use of Ely's Cream Balm I can highly recommend it. Its sales are far in excess of all other catarrh remedies.—B. Franken, druggist, Sigourney, Ia.

Utah Wonders.

There is in the extreme north of Utah a magnificent subterranean reservoir of first-class soda-water, bubbling and effervescing out of the ground in such quantities that all America might be supplied. In the extreme south, on the road to Orderville, is an exquisite circular lakelet that is always just full to the brim, with water as clear and as green as beryl. And where the water overflows the lake's edge it incrusts the ground, and the grass, and the fallen leaves upon it with a fine coating of limestone, so that the brim is growing higher and higher with the imperceptible but certain growth of a coral reef, and in the course of generations the lake will become a concreted basin.

Poole is fifty-five years old and his brain suffers from the stroke of a shell he received while fighting for the union at Shiloh. The trouble of the brave veteran is to be regretted.

Within the past four weeks, Huntington has received trade from Wabash, Whitley, Wells and Grant counties, and several persons have been here from within a very few miles of Fort Wayne. —Huntington Herald.

A few gentlemen were at Huntington last week to view the ruins of the burned grain elevator and the beer and whisky trade boomed. This is all there is in the item clipped.

A meeting of the chess players of the city, was held last evening and an organization completed to be known as the Fort Wayne Chess club. The officers elected were Dr. K. K. Wheelock, president; Mr. A. C. Keel, treasurer, and Mr. D. S. Myers, secretary. Dr. Wm. H. Myers was appointed a delegate to the State Chess tournament to be held in Indianapolis to-day. The doctor and Mrs. Myers are now at the state capitol.

Mr. H. C. Newton, the genial local agent of the Wabash road, received these circulars this morning: "The freight agency at Fifield, Iowa, on the Des Moines and Relay division of this railway, has been abolished. All freight shipments for that point must be prepaid. On and after January 1st, 1886, and until otherwise advised. Mr. W. B. Alberger will represent the freight department of this railway, as agent at Los Angelos, Cal., vice R. H. Springer."

The Third Presbyterian Sunday school holds its Christmas "giving exercise" this evening. This school has experienced the truth, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Many a want has been supplied to the poor, from the proceeds of the former "Giving Exercises." This year it adds a new feature and invites its friends to come and see "New Year's day," "Washington's Birthday," "Fourth of July," "Decoration Day," "Thanksgiving Day" and "Christmas" in a lively contest before the "Goddess of Liberty" for preeminence. The primary class will render several of their songs during the evening. Everyone made welcome and everybody admitted who brings a gift or instead the sum of ten cents.

A CASH BASIS.

The County Debt Bonded to the Extent of $200,000.

Yesterday the county commissioners met and decided to bond $200,000 outstanding county orders. The bonds are to be dated January 1, 1886, and bear 5 per cent. interest and become payable in installments from 1888 to the year 1896, in sums of from $15,000 to $25,000. The bonds can be sold at a premium, and this premium and 1 per cent. interest is a clean saving to the tax payers, as the county orders draw 6 per cent. interest. After bonding the county orders there is now and will be $72,000 cash in the treasury. This will keep the county on a cash basis and procure work at cheap cash prices until next June, when $110,000 cash will be collected. Then a sinking fund will be created to wipe out the bonds and thus will the debt of Allen county, honestly created for improvements, be wiped out and we won't owe a dollar.

Hon. R. C. Bell and Auditor Griebel are now at Indianapolis to have the bonds engraved and next Saturday the commissioners meet to sign the papers and advertise for proposals.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

"Paquita" will be produced at the Temple to-night under the supervision of its author and popular playwright, Bartley Campbell. The play turns upon the love of Hortense de la Rey, the wife of a young physician, for one Jose Borosco, a picturesque adventurer. When Dr. de la Rey understands the situation, he banishes both culprits from his presence. Later on the woman's brother meets the seducer and wounds him in a duel, a somewhat needless complication being produced at this point by the intervention of a young Mexican person named Paquita, who is platonically enamored of De la Rey, and who add a few scruples of lead to the solid ounce of metal with which the victim's adversary favors him. The company appearing here is said to be a strong one, and Frank C. Cooper, a newspaper man, favorably remembered here, is business manager.

The second concert under the supervision of Miss Minnie Anderson was attended by a fashionable audience at the Temple last night. The instrumental music was superb and Miss Kenower earned encores. Altogether the program was artistically observed.

The Gray & Stephens Dramatic company played to a magnificent audience at the Academy last night. Miss Minnie Oscar Gray is pert, pretty and a pleasing actress. The little lady delighted her audience and indeed her support was admirable. The company play here all week at popular prices and the play is very entertaining and amusing. It is clean, genteel and spicy.
